GREET THIS DAY

I will greet this day with God's love in my heart! It is the greatest secret to success no matter what life brings. It calms every storm. When the enemy perse-cutes my soul, love comforts it. When I face darkness, love brings light. When my heart is overwhelmed, love will inspire and encourage it! When my heart is dis-tressed, love will remind me of God's goodness over the years.

When I feel discouraged, love will lift my hands to the Lord, and fill my mouth with a song. I will worship Him this day with His love in my heart!

I will greet this day with God's love in my heart! When it feels like heaven is silent, love will remind me that God knows what I'm going through. He has a plan. And He will provide for my every need.

I will greet this day with God's love in my heart! Love will lead me. Love will direct me. Love will inspire me. Love will heal me. Love will fill me. Love will revive me.

I will greet this day with God's love in my heart! Love will deliver me from my enemies. It will protect me in times of storm. Because of God's love today, all those who seek to hurt me will be stopped, for love makes my shield of faith work!

I will love all whom I come in contact with today. I will love the weak and make them strong. I will love the inspired and be inspired by them. I will love the empty, and help them be filled. I will love the filled, and they will overflow! I will love the broken and they will be healed.

I will greet this day with God's love in my heart, and it will quench all darts of the wicked one. I will confront everyone I face with love. It will shine through my eyes, bring a smile to my face, and bring waves of peace through my voice. It will lower people's defenses and empower them to experience God's presence!

I will greet this day with God's love in my heart! Because He loves me, I will love myself. I will love others. And I will love life, no matter what I face! From this moment forward, fear and hate leave my body and my mind. Fear and hate leave my family and my home, in Jesus' Name!